DO YOU WANT TO HELP HIM?

Salvation Army Officer to Salvation Army Soldier: "Come over here, you can help me to get him out much better where I am than where you are. Cross over by the Candidates' Bridge."

DAILY BIBLE READING

By way of encouraging the reading of God's Word when perhaps a Bible is not available, we print a few verses here for each day in the week.

SUNDAY

Blessed are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the law of the Lord.

Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to Thy Word.

MONDAY

For the Word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit and of the joints and marrow, and is a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

The mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear Him, and His righteousness unto children's children;

To such as keep His covenant, and to those that remember His commandments to do them.

TUESDAY

But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them;

Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine.

WEDNESDAY

I will rejoice in Thy salvation.

O, come, let us sing unto the Lord; let us make a joyful noise to the Rock of our Salvation.

THURSDAY

Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding;

If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures;

Then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.

For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of His mouth cometh knowledge and understanding.

FRIDAY

Make me to understand the way of Thy precepts: so shall I talk of Thy wondrous works.

I will speak of Thy testimonies also before kings, and will not be ashamed.

Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and Thy law is the truth.

SATURDAY

In My Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you: I go to prepare a place for you.

We know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him.

I WILL BE WORTHY

I may not reach the heights I seek;
My untried strength may fail me;
Or, halfway up the mountain peak,
Fierce tempests may assail me.
But though that place I never gain,
Herein lies life's comfort for my pain—
I will be worthy of it.

I may not triumph in success,
Despite my earnest labor;
I may not grasp results that bless
The efforts of my neighbor.
But though that goal I never see,
This thought shall always dwell with me—
I will be worthy of it.

A ROUSING CALL FOR HELP

BY THE FOUNDER

DURING one of my journeys I saw a vision. There appeared a dark and stormy ocean. Over it the black clouds hung heavily; through them every now and then vivid lightnings flashed, and loud thunders rolled, while the winds moaned, and fretted and broke, and rose to foam and fret and break again.

In that ocean I thought I saw myriads of poor human beings plunging and floating, and shouting and shrieking, and cursing and struggling, and drowning; and as they cursed and shrieked, they rose and shrieked again, and then sank to rise no more.

And out of this dark angry ocean a mighty rock rose up. All round the base of this rock was a vast platform, and on to this platform I saw with delight a number of the poor, struggling, drowning wretches continually climbing out of the angry ocean; and I saw that a number of those who were already safe on the platform were helping the poor creatures still in the angry waters to reach the same place of safety.

Jumped in!

Looking more closely I found a number of those who had been rescued scheming and contriving by ladders and ropes and boats and other expedients more effectively to deliver the poor strugglers out of this sea. Here and there were some who actually jumped into the water, regardless of all consequences, in their eagerness to 'rescue the perishing'; and I hardly know which gladdened me most—the sight of the poor people climbing on to the rocks, and so reaching the place of safety or the devotion and self-sacrifice of those whose whole being was wrapped up in efforts for their deliverance.

And as I looked I saw that the occupants of that platform were a mixed company. They were divided into different 'sets' or castes, and occupied themselves with various pleas and employments; but only a very few of them seemed to make it their business to get the people out of the sea.

Some occupied themselves chiefly in eating and drinking, others were greatly taken up with arguing about the poor drowning creatures in the sea, and as to what would become of them in the future.

Sinking in Shoals

All this time the struggling, shrieking multitudes were floating about in the dark sea quite near by—so near that they could easily have been rescued. Instead of which there they were perishing in full view, not only one by one, but sinking down in shoals, every day, in the angry water.

As I looked, I found that the handful of people on the platform whom I had observed before were still struggling with their rescue work—Oh, God! how I wished there had been a multitude of them! Indeed, these toilers seemed to do little else but fret and weep and toil and scheme for the perishing people. They gave themselves no rest, and sadly bothered everyone they could get at around them by persistently entreating them to come to their assistance. In fact, they came to be voted a real nuisance by many quite benevolent and kind-hearted people, and by some who were very religious too.

Then I saw something more wonderful still. The miseries and agonies and perils and blasphemies of these poor struggling people in this dark sea moved the pity of the great God in Heaven; moved it so much that He sent a great Being to deliver them.

The Ocean of Life

Then I understood it all. That sea was the ocean of life—the sea of real, actual human existence. That lightning was the gleaming of piercing truth coming from Jehovah's Throne. That thunder was the distant echoing of the wrath of God. Those multitudes of people shrieking, struggling, agonizing in the stormy sea, were the thousands of poor harlots and harlot-makers, of drunkards and drunkard-makers, of thieves and liars, and blasphemers and ungodly people of every kindred, and tongue, and nation.

That great sheltering rock represented Calvary; and the people on it were those who had been rescued; and the way they employed their energies and gifts and time represented the occupations and amusements of those who profess to be rescued from sin and Hell, and to be the followers of Jesus Christ. The handful of fierce, determined saviours were Salvation Soldiers together with a few others who shared the same spirit. That mighty Being was the Son of God, who is still struggling to save the dying multitudes about us from this terrible doom of damnation, and whose voice can be heard, above the music, and machinery, and hue-and-cry of life, calling on the rescued to come and help Him to save the world.

A Bible Fact

My comrades, you are rescued from the waters; you are on the rock. He is in the dark sea, calling on you to come to Him and help Him. Will you obey?

Look! The surging sea of life crowded with perishing souls rolls up to the very spot on which you stand. Leaving the vision, I now come to speak of the fact—a fact that is real as the Bible; as real as the Christ who hung upon the cross; as real as the Judgment Day will be, and as real as the Heaven and Hell that will follow it.

All who are not on the rock are in the sea.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is in the midst of this dying multitude, struggling to save them. He is calling on you to jump into the sea—to go right away to His side, and help Him in the holy strife.

Will you jump? That is, will you place yourself absolutely at His disposal?

A Soldier came to me once, saying that for some time she had been giving the Lord her profession, and prayers, and money, and now she

Here Am I, Lord, Send

I have not an angel's tongue,
Skilled in winning speech or song;
Weighty words at my command
Pleas fallacious to withstand—
Is there not some little child
I can win from paths defiled?
Weak, unworthy though I be,
Here am I, O Lord, send me.

I cannot the sickle wield,
In the noon-day harvest field;
Bear the burden of the day;
Garner loaded wains away—
I can only stoop and glean
Where more staid forms have been;
Weak, unworthy though I be,
Here am I, O Lord, send me.

I cannot the sword gird on,
If there's victory to be won—
When has ebb'd the battle-shed,
I can seek the wounded out;
Soothe the dying; make the bed
Of the sad and lonely dead.
Weak, unworthy though I be,
Here am I, O Lord, send me.

Send, O Lord, by whom Thou wilt
Cleanse this world of woe and guilt,
Where the hosts of error low,
Clothe Thy chosen ones with grace,
In the kingdom of Thy peace,
Give to me some humble place,
Weak, unworthy though I be,
Here am I, O Lord, send me.

wanted to give Him her body, wanted to go right into the fight, other words, she wanted to go to assistance in the sea. As when man from the bank, seeing and struggling in the water, lays aside those outer garments that hinder his efforts, and leaps to rescue, so will you who still linger the bank, thinking, and singing, praying about the poor perishing souls, lay aside your shame, your pride, your care about other people's opinions, your love of ease and the selfish loves that have hindered you so long, and rush to the rescue of this multitude of dying men.

You Must

Does the surging sea look dangerous? No doubt the sea is for you, as for everyone who takes it, means difficulty, and scorn, and suffering. For you it may mean more than this. It may mean death. He who calls to you from the sea, however, knows what it will mean, and knowing, He still beckons you and bids you come.

You must do it. You cannot hold back. You have enjoyed yourself in religion long enough. You have had pleasant feelings, pleasant songs, pleasant meetings, pleasant prospects. There has been much human happiness, much clapping of hands, and much of Heaven's earth.

Now, then, go to God, and tell Him you are prepared as far as is necessary to turn your back upon it, and that you are willing to spend the rest of your days grappling with these perishing multitudes, cost you what it may.

You must do it. With the thought that has now broken in upon your mind, and the call that is now sounding in your ears, and the beckoning finger that is now before your eyes, you have no alternative. To go down among the perishing crowds is your duty. Your happiness henceforth will consist in sharing their misery, your ease in sharing their pain; your crown in bearing their cross; your heaven in going to the jaws of Hell to rescue them.

What Will YOU Do?

AUTUMN DAYS AT KURON

A Visit to The Salvation Army's Island Colony for Inebriates in Sweden

WITHOUT doubt Kuron is one of the pearls of the many beautiful islands of Lake Mälaren. It has at every season some beauty to reveal to the admirer of nature.

We have recently seen the Island in the late autumn when we imagined that it might present a gloomy scene, but to do it justice we must say that even then it proved beautiful and inviting.

Inspecting the Farm

To begin, we arrived at Kuron just before the gong called to dinner, and directly after the meal we took a walk in order to see what life at Kuron was like at that particular season. First we directed our steps towards the farm-buildings, where one of the colonists is in charge of the cattle and sheep. We were told that the yield of milk is good, and that it meets the need of the colony. The farm-buildings have been rebuilt and are in every way most suitable. Continuing our walk through the stable, where the horses were enjoying a short rest, we arrived at the piggery where andry porkers expressed their satisfaction upon life in general in their usual way. From the piggery we went to the poultry farm where we were greeted by a great deal of cackling. There were hens, geese, ducks, turkeys and many rabbits. The livestock on the Colony, particularly the birds and smaller animals, are of special interest to the colonists.

As will be imagined Kuron, with its big family of colonists who are cheerfully enduring their Crusoe-like experiences in order to help to work out their own Salvation, presents many and varied opportunities to labor in the open, which is one of the salutary features of the cure.

Plenty of Work

During spring, summer and early autumn the garden and the farm provide plenty of work. Then in the late autumn and during the winter here is the wood chopping, the clearing in the forest, and the making of roads, which is very necessary. Some of the colonist: were occupied harvesting the late crops of turnips and carrots.

Now we will listen while the manager is telling us something about Kuron and its work.

"You seem to be full up here?" we said when we were comfortably ensconced in the inviting receiving room, which affords a magnificent view over the bay.

"Yes," was the answer, "we have now thirty-four colonists."

"What kind of folk have you had here?"

"Many kinds, they include lawyers, military officers, engineers, bank-

all success in trying to deliver men from the power of strong drink. We have to witness disappointments here sometimes, and we hear of relapses, but taken as a whole the result is an encouragement to our faith. During these years we have had the joy of seeing men give them-

"Does it not get monotonous and tiresome sometimes here, and doesn't that influence the colonists adversely?"

"No. Every season has its pleasures, its work, and its problems and the time passes quickly. The spring cannot be tedious amid all this beautiful nature. During the summer in the free time the colonists seek pleasure paddling, sailing, fishing, bathing and in other diversions of open-air life. In the winter we arrange a skating-ground with toboggan slide, and sometimes we manage to arrange an illuminated festival on the ice!"

Social Occasions

"The most difficult time is perhaps the period just before Christmas, but the colonists pull through all right. As a rule we have singers, musicians and reciters among the colonists, and then we have Meetings with singing, music, lectures and coffee. These are very social occasions."

"Do you encourage the working colonists?"

"Yes, we have introduced a system by which the industrious receive a premium for their special effort, and it has proved successful. For instance, those who have charge of the animals have to rise early, and to be on duty even on Sundays, the baker, who bakes all of our bread, who has to work in an exceptional way, and other colonists, are paid a certain sum per day by way of encouragement."

Willing Workers

"But the rule surely must be that every colonist has to work?"

"Quite so, according to the regulations they have to work from November to March for five hours a day, and from March to October, seven hours, and they do it very willingly, but in many cases one cannot expect very hard work. Many are accustomed to mental work of a sedentary character and it takes time to train them for physical labor. Craftsmen are of great use and they earn the premiums they get."

Later, when we returned from Kuron by motorboat we thought of it as a delightful place where, through God's grace and the efforts of The Salvation Army, the weak are made strong, and those who would fain give up the struggle in despair are encouraged to have faith in God and in themselves.

A Colonist's cottage on the Island men, teachers, merchants, agriculturists, craftsmen, and some who, while having no particular calling, have to be reckoned with. Many who have been here have had a University education and the ordinary workman is by no means in the majority."

"How do they live together, such very different folk?"

"They get on all right with each other, there is quite a good understanding amongst them. There are no differences of classification. Each man recognizes his fellow colonist as his fellow brother. As a rule they are willing to submit to the discipline that has to be exercised in an enterprise such as this and it is their due to say that they show to us Officers every respect and courtesy."

"Are most of those who come badly hit by their besetment?"

"Yes, most of them are in a bad way physically, mentally and spiritually."

"Do many get lasting help here?"

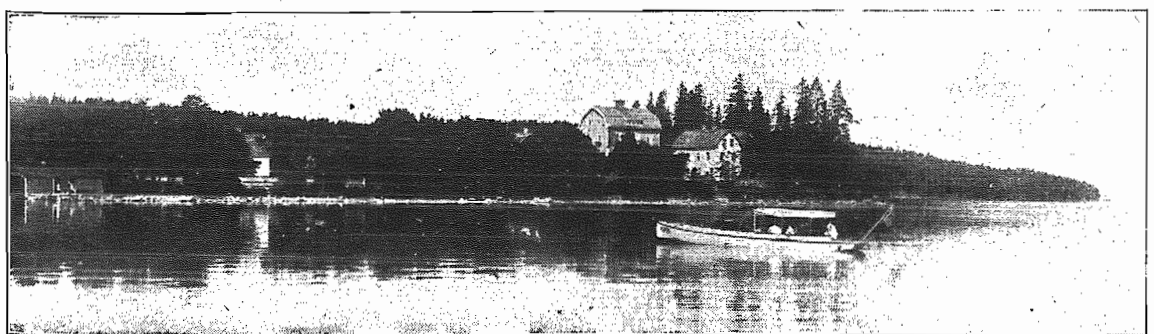

"Yes, thank God. Those who are at close grips with this problem will be the first to realize that it is not selves to God. This, after all, is the greatest guarantee for a permanent result. Here are a couple of letters from former colonists."

We read the letters and found them to be good arguments for Kuron, and they were expressed in terms of hearty thanks for all the love and care received. There were many more such letters in the manager's desk.

"Speaking of conversion, can you tell how the men are influenced in that direction?"

"Principally by example. We Officers are almost continually together with the colonists. Then the short morning and evening prayers and the Sunday morning Meetings, at which all the colonists are expected to be present, help. Of course, there is the "word in season," and we are very happy when a colonist comes to us and opens his heart upon spiritual matters. Even the men who are not religious look upon religion with respect and though they do not always understand its power they recognize the fact that it is a great influence for good."

HAMILTON IV Captain and Mrs. Cubitt

Life Saving Medal Presented to Assistant Guard Leader—Twenty Seekers

The week-end Meetings led by Ensign Ellery were helpful and inspiring. On Saturday the Life Saving Guards and Scouts were present in full force. The Ensign presented Assistant Guard Leader Jean Peebles with a bronze Life Saving medal. The incident for which the medal was awarded happened at Bala. Two little girls, aged five and seven, were playing in a punt some two hundred yards from shore, when the younger lost her balance and fell into the water. Assistant Guard Leader Peebles heard the scream of the elder sister and went to the rescue. She swam ashore with the child on her back and took immediate measures to prevent ill effects of the immersion.

On Sunday morning the Scouts and Guards attended and marched to the open-air stand. The night Meeting was a real battle for souls when TWENTY seekers came forward.

On Monday a special Guard Parade was held and the Ensign presented a number of badges. This was followed by a testimony Meeting when a number of Comrades told of God's power to save and keep.

The following week-end our Officers led us on. Fifty Local Officers received their Commissions.

MONCTON Adjutant and Mrs. Major

Divisional Commander Pays a Visit—New Bandsman Welcomed

Major Burrows conducted the week-end Meetings, which were times of blessing and inspiration. On Sunday afternoon Bandsman Arthur Deadman, his wife and two children, were publicly welcomed to the Corps. The Major, Sergeant-Major Stewart, Treasurer Hoar, Young People's Sergeant-Major Smith and Bandmaster Deadman extended a warm welcome to our Comrade. On Monday TWO seekers came forward.

Our own Officers led the following week-end Meetings. On Saturday TWO seekers came forward and on Sunday TWO more sought pardon. The outpost Company Meeting is now held at Humphrey's Mills.

LIPPINCOTT (TORONTO) Adjutant and Mrs. Galway

Brigadier and Mrs. Walton conducted recent Sunday Meetings at this Corps. The Brigadier's addresses were of the kind that strike conviction to the sinful heart and build up the character and spiritual experience of God's people.

A memorial service in the Holiness Meeting was very impressive.

In the evening FIVE lads on the borderland of manhood stepped out for God and claimed Salvation.

The Band under Bandmaster Glover and the Songsters, under Songster-Leader G. Ford, rendered splendid service.

Lieut-Colonel Morehen paid a recent week-end visit to this Corps. On Saturday a rousing Open-air Meeting which was well attended well listened to by a splendid crowd.

The Colonel's address on Sunday morning was inspiring and helpful. In the afternoon he enrolled Junior Soldiers and presented them with the pledge card. The Colonel rendered several selections. The Colonel complimented them on playing.

The Sunday evening service was well attended with a record of twenty-seven being present. The Hall was filled for the service. The Colonel's address stirred the hearts of those present. God's Holy Spirit came very near and before the Meeting closed EIGHT souls sought pardon at the Cross.

On Monday evening the Corps gave a lecture. His mention of a wonderful change wrought in the lives of wicked men and women was both interesting and inspiring.

The Friday night Holiness Meetings conducted by Brigadier Mrs. McAmmond are well attended and are a source of real joy and blessing.

L. H. Smith

PETERBORO Adjutant and Mrs. Burton

A glorious day for God was Sunday at this Corps. We had joy of seeing some of our converts at knee-drill. While Band was playing at the open-air Meeting someone requested them to move a little further down the street so that a sick man could better hear the music. The result a man and his two sons sought Salvation at our night Meeting. SEVEN seekers in all came forward.

The Adjutant gave a powerful address in the Holiness Meeting again at night. It was a beautiful sight to see nineteen new converts witnessing for Christ.

Special Campaign Attracts Large People—Twenty-Eight Seekers

A soul saving Campaign has been in progress here during the sixteen days, and God has wonderfully blessed us. Many who had been to a Salvation Army Mission for years, came and got their hearts blessed, and not a few entered the Hall for the first time. Major Rows and Commandant Shearn conducted the Campaign, and we had God's presence with us. Among the special ones who followed were Capt. and Mrs. Goodwin, Newcastle, and Mrs. Cole, Houlton. Staff-Captain Owen, St. John, and Mrs. Rows, Robinson, Preston, Adjutant and Mrs. Davis, Stephen, and Commandant Heston, St. John III, besides the splendid co-operation of the ministers of the town. The attendance for the seven days totalled two thousand, and we rejoiced over TWENTY-EIGHT souls at the Cross.

OWEN SOUND Commandant and Mrs. Mercer

Mrs. Brigadier Green led recent week-end Meetings. In the Holiness Meeting TWO seekers came forward. The address given by Mrs. Green in the afternoon was inspiring to all present. At night we had a wonderful time of blessing when TWELVE seekers knelt at the mercy seat. On Monday afternoon Mrs. Green spoke in one of the Churches, and at night the Songsters gave a fine programme.

One of the features of the celebration of the Army's 38th Anniversary at Owen Sound was the giving of a dinner to five hundred children. Mayor Harris and Mrs. Harris were present for a short time and the Mayor addressed the children.

THE SOLDIER'S LAST COMMAND
"Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature."
His Last Promise:
"Lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Salvation Army Officers provide a source of refreshment in the service of God and mankind second to none upon earth. If you are called to follow Christ in the path, follow to the end, and you will find that you are not alone, as well as mean you will have made the most of the plan for saving the world.

If you will accept and obey the Commandment, that the Lord of the world, in His love, comfort, guidance and life, He will be present, leading you to triumph over every difficulty, whether they seem real and hard to all the world, which may be made your own.

He will be present, leading you to triumph over every difficulty, whether they seem real and hard to all the world, which may be made your own.

day Sunday and SEVEN seekers came forward.

The Citadel now presents quite a new appearance. The auditorium has been newly decorated, new lighting systems have been installed, and a new room for the Life Saving Scouts and Guards has been built in the basement. Adjutant Hurd conducted the financial campaign to secure the necessary funds and the citizens made a generous response.

"Since The Salvation Army has been occupying the newly renovated Citadel," says the Yarmouth "Herald" "there is an apparent renewed interest in the work in every way. The Sunday congregations show good increase as they are being largely attended and those of the last week were exceptionally bright. On Sunday evening Mrs. Cant. Friend spoke on "Selling Christ." The breakfast room at Yarmouth South continues to be a happy haven for many children and to date 994 breakfasts have been served."

EXETER Captain MacGillivray, Lieut. Parnell

The Divisional Commander, Major Byers, paid us an unexpected visit on Tuesday, Feb. 28th, and led us on in a red-hot and inspiring cottage prayer Meeting in Exeter North. Thirty-four adults, and several young people were present. Many up-to-the-moment testimonies were given.

BOWMANVILLE Captain and Mrs. Key

On a recent Sunday we had a new drum presented to the Corps by our worthy friend Mr. Pethick. We had good Meetings all day finishing up with FIVE seekers at the mercy-seat. Mrs. Captain Key has organized a Troop of Life Saving Guards, with sixteen members to start with.

THE SALVATION WAR IN NEWFOUNDLAND

N a recent Sunday Colonel and Mrs. Martin conducted the night Meeting at St. John's I. building was packed to its capacity. It was encouraging to the new faces present. From the beginning of the service the conviction was manifested.

Colonel Martin read a portion of Scripture, after which a few testimonies were given.

The Colonel's address was given with greatest attention, outlining as it did the importance of immediate surrender. After a red-hot prayer meeting the Comrades rejoiced TWELVE souls kneeling at the Cross.

A special enrolment service was conducted on Thursday night. The Colonel, Nine Comrades were in. The Colonel gave a most interesting talk on the privileges and opportunities given to Soldiers, then Jennings, on behalf of No. 1 Corps, welcomed the newly enlisted Soldiers and assured them of prayers and interest of the old Comrades. Commandant Sainsbury is making an effort to get all converts into fighting Soldiers.

The Friday night Holiness Meeting was also conducted by the Colonel. This was of a very special character. A Holiness table draped in a red cloth on which was written the word "Holiness" helped to make the Meeting very impressive. Praying, singing and speaking demonstrated the character of the consecration service.

An address on "Called to be Holy" was delivered by the Colonel, which was very clear and convincing, showing as it did the glorious privileges of the sanctified soul. The results of the service were deeply encouraging.

On Sunday night the Colonel, assisted by Headquarters Staff, conducted a Meeting at St. John's II. In spite of the very stormy and icy weather quite a number assembled. The Meeting was of a very deeply spiritual character. The Colonel's address on "Backsliding and Restoration" was the means of FIVE seekers coming to the mercy seat.

Ensign Carter, of St. John's III, reports things moving splendidly. The last few days no less than TWENTY-ONE souls have knelt at the penitent form. Special services are being conducted and expectations are high for a mighty outpouring of God's Spirit. A Junior Enrolment is also contemplated.

sought and found God. A house has also been secured at Woodford's Cove, another outpost. The Lieutenant fills the dual capacity of Corps Officer and Day school teacher.

Captain Hackett of St. Anthony, states that he is having a deeply spiritual time at his Corps. Services are well attended and are full of conviction. An encouraging number of souls are being saved. TWO came forward on Sunday for Salvation.

Cadet Millie Le Drew of Livingstone St. School, has had to give up her work prior to entering the Sanitarium for treatment. We pray that she may be quickly restored to health and strength.

"At Channel there has been a great awakening" writes Adjutant James. "It came in a very humble Meeting where THREE young men came forward. The next evening, although no Meeting was announced, a large crowd assembled and FOUR other young men got soundly converted, and so the fire spread. The verdict of the community is that the like has never happened in years. Already THIRTY-EIGHT have come forward for Salvation. It is gratifying to note that they are taking their stand as Soldiers. Recently six Soldiers were enrolled.

At Creston, where Lieutenants Peters and Pitcher are in charge, a good soul-saving work is progressing. FIFTY-FOUR seekers have come forward up to the time of writing. On Sunday last, at the Holiness Meeting, SIX came out for consecration. A Young Men's Bible Class has been formed.

PROMOTED TO GLORY

Sister Mrs. James Summers
Clarenville

One of our oldest Soldiers, in the person of Mrs. James Summers has gone to her eternal reward. She had been sick for some time, and passed away leaving behind her a definite assurance that all was well. The writer visited our departed Comrade many times. She was always ready, waiting only for the summons.

Captain Jones, the Corps Officer, assisted by the writer conducted the funeral service. The Rev. Mr. Davis read a portion of Scripture, and closed in prayer. On the following Sunday night a memorial service was held. L. Moulton, Lieut.

DON'T BE A JONAH!

BY MAJOR J. NEWTON PARKER

God told Jonah to go and preach to Nineveh, and Jonah knew what he ought to do.

Jonah was away from his home duty.

Jonah's disobedience brought disaster to himself and others.

If God has called you to be an Officer, and you disobey, you are a hindrance to your Corps and soul-winning.

If you disobey, God's first intention for you can never change, though your disobedience may force Him to close His door against you.

Jonah's disobedience brought punishment from God to Nineveh. When he cried to God, he was delivered.

Don't be disobedient; if you are, you are a hindrance to your Corps and soul-winning.

The St. John's I Home League is proving itself to be a great asset to the Corps. In addition to the visiting, and taking a deep interest in the needy cases of the city, they are planning for a Sale of Work and tea for the purpose of raising funds toward the erection of the contemplated new Temple. The membership has been recently augmented by several new additions and at a recent Meeting there was a record attendance.

The soul saving work at Little Ward's Harbor, under Lieut. Tiller, is making splendid progress. Meetings have been conducted at Little Bay, an out-post, where TWO souls

The latest report from Whitbourne states that SIX souls recently knelt at the Cross for pardon and many others for consecration. Captain Pilgrim has announced a series of services for the Salvation of the people.

From Griguet, the farthest north Corps, Lieut. Campbell writes as follows:—"We are endeavouring to keep up the standard. A service was recently held at Noddy Bay, a settlement about three and a half miles farther north, with ONE soul at the Cross. TWO others came forward at Griguet on a recent Sunday. A soup supper was held in the interest of the financial side of the Corps and a substantial sum was realised."

POLICE COURT OFFICER

Is doing a Valuable Work at Windsor, Ont.

City authorities are not slow to recognize the efficient aid which The Salvation Army renders the community in connection with various phases of Police Court Work. A valuable work is being done by the Women's Social under Adjutant McAulay in Windsor, Ont., and in connection therewith, the opportunities of usefulness have been increased by the appointment of Captain Ruth Plant as Police Court Officer.

Captain Plant

She has already got the work well in hand. In the new Police Headquarters in Windsor,—one of the most modern in the Dominion—the Captain has a nicely furnished private office, where she does her clerical work and correspondence, and the privacy of which gives her added facilities for personal dealing with the cases that come under her jurisdiction. In her work Captain Plant has the sympathy and co-operation of Chief of Police Daniel Thompson, and the entire Police and Detective Forces.

The cases that come under the Captain's care are very varied. In some instances she has been called upon to act as arbitrator in family disputes and domestic quarrels; in others to seek out wayward girls and help them to see the error of their ways. Again it has been her privilege to assist those who have been more sinned against than sinning; and the Captain has just been successful in placing a young girl of this latter class in our London Rescue Home. The Captain attends all Court sittings where women and girls come up for trial, and also attends the Juvenile Court when needed, and co-operates with the Children's Aid Inspector.

We believe these are only the beginnings, and that under the good blessing of God the Captain may be able to help many who have gone astray, or who are in difficulty, and need guidance and advice.

IN THE FATHER'S CARE

We are in the Father's care. Yes, we're in the Father's care. His ears are open to every earnest prayer.

We can rest upon His love With a prospect bright and fair, Safe from harm and alarm While we're in the Father's care

Commissioner Eadie in British Columbia—Home League Locals of Winnipeg met by Mrs. Eadie—A Hospital Incident

(FROM THE CANADA WEST "WAR CRY")

A HELPFUL series of Meetings were recently conducted by Commissioner Eadie at New Westminster. Splendid congregations attended and one seeker came to the mercy seat.

A great Musical Festival at Vancouver I was also presided over by the Commissioner. An excellent programme was given by the Senior and Young People's Bands of the Corps. The Commissioner brought the happy gathering to a close by an address blessed with particular unction and enthusiastic quality.

A united Meeting of Home League Secretaries and Treasurers led by Mrs. Commissioner Eadie, Territorial Home League Secretary, and Mrs. Major White, Divisional Secretary, was held in the Training Home on a recent Wednesday.

Mrs. Major White opened the Meeting and then spoke of Mrs. Eadie's kindness in arranging a special gathering when the Secretaries and Treasurers could meet and exchange the ideas they had found successful in making the Home Leagues of interest and blessing. An annual report showing the progress the Leagues had made in attendance and work accomplished was also read by Mrs. White.

The Meeting was thrown open for the discussion of ways and means by which we can better our League Meetings and for an hour or so Mrs. Eadie and Mrs. White talked over different plans.

Lieut.-Colonel Morris and Brigadier Whately conducted a recent Sunday's Meetings at Vancouver. An extremely hearty welcome was given to the Colonel who was stationed at the Coast as Divisional Commander eleven years ago.

Brigadier Whately, who was introduced by the Colonel, was also given a very hearty greeting.

The battle for souls was well fought, and the victorious faith of the Comrades was rewarded by eight souls kneeling at the Cross.

MUSICAL MEETINGS

Given by Commandant Urquhart at Various Corps in the Neighbouring Divisions

By permission of Lieut.-Colonel Hargrave, the Divisional Commander of the Hamilton Division, it was arranged for Commandant Urquhart to visit several Corps to give a musical programme with his various instruments.

At Ingersoll the Citadel was crowded and Mrs. McIntyre of the Baptist Church took the chair.

The Stratford Citadel was also filled with a splendid congregation. The proceeds of the Musical were in aid of the Life Saving Guard fund. Captain McGillivray, together with her Lieutenant had things well in hand. Sergeant-Major Bissett assisted in the programme.

The Baptist Church at Dunnville was loaned for the occasion and chairs had to be put down the aisles

Word has been received by the Commissioner advising that Staff-Captain Jaynes is confined in the Ketchikan Hospital smitten with influenza and with a temperature dangerously near 104.

The following incident is related by Sister Mrs. Yarlett of Winnipeg. She says:—

"A few months ago I was sick and in hospital. One morning, a young nurse was dusting under my bed when she picked up a 'War Cry' I had dropped. 'My!' she exclaimed, 'it is a long time since I have seen a 'War Cry.' I was startled and looked her way, noting her plainly combed hair and neat appearance. 'Were you a Salvationist at one time?' I questioned. 'No,' she replied, 'but the best friend I have in all this world is a Salvationist in the Old Country and I have often gone to Army Meetings with her. I have been in Canada a few months now, and last year went to hear General Booth in the Board of Trade Building. Do you remember that in one of his Meetings he read a letter about the poor suffering lepers? Well, that letter convinced me. I felt myself to be a 'shirker.' I resolved to waste my life no longer, and there and then I went and offered myself for the mission field. And here I am now training to be a nurse, and shortly I hope to go as a Missionary to help brighten one of earth's dark corners.'"

The Devil is rampant at Norwood. Why? Because a family that recently sought the Saviour are fighting valiantly for Him. Living as they do, in St. Vital, they saw the need of something being done for the children there. No Hall being available, these Comrades have opened their home, and last Sunday, sixteen were present at the Home Company Meeting conducted by Captain I. Watt of T. H. Q. who has taken charge of this new venture. May it have much of God's blessing.

to accommodate the congregation. At Kitchener, a terrible sleet storm hindered somewhat, but a nice crowd came along. Captain Moore was helped considerably financially.

The Simcoe Citadel was filled, although the night was stormy. Engine Chambers had succeeded in selling a good number of tickets. The Commandant has an invitation to return in the near future.

NEW GLASGOW
Captain and Mrs. Rawlins

The second anniversary of the starting of a Company Meeting at Priestville was recently celebrated by a special Meeting. Brother McDonald was enrolled as a Soldier and a little child was dedicated. The reading of the report of the two years' work showed that there has been quite an increase in the attendance. A good work is being done by the Band of Kindness which is led by Sister Mrs. Scott. Young People's Sergeant-Major Diamond gave a brief address.

ST. JOHN DIVISION

Some Notes of Interest

A splendid Campaign is in progress at Woodstock under the direction of Captain Lowe. Splendidly attend the Meetings and see excellent cases of conversion reported. Major Burrows opened the Campaign and Staff-Captain conducted last Sunday's Meeting. Other neighboring Officers and Sisters have assisted in the effort.

Adjutant Major (Moncton) reports that the cottage prayer lists are proving of much blessing to the Corps.

A special Campaign is being carried for Carleton Corps, where Mr. Burrell is in charge. The Corps has only been in command a few weeks but already there is a marked improvement in congregations, a noticeable increase in the Company Meeting. TWO seekers forward last Sunday.

Captain MacGowan (Saskatoon) reports that nine children were recently added to the Cradle Roll.

At the United Holiness Meeting at St. John I. Corps last night TWELVE souls responded to appeal made, which caused much rejoicing.

The recent visit of Colonel to Moncton and St. John City much appreciated by Officers and Soldiers. His conference with Officers and his public address were a source of inspiration.

Lieut. McMillan has received welcome into the St. John Division and has been appointed to be Captain and Mrs. Goodwin in Moncton and Chatham.

NEEDY PEOPLE

Are Being Helped by The Salvation Army in Montreal

Many poor people are being helped by The Salvation Army in Montreal nowadays. The following are some of the cases assisted recently by Adjutant Ursaki, the Corps Officer of No. 1. On the fourth floor of a tenement building two needy families were discovered, a man and wife with seven children and a wife with five children. Another woman told the Adjutant that her husband had left her and she must raise a family of fifteen.

A family of three deserted by her husband. Yet another husband died in France, children too sick to be at home, and surely too sick to be brought to the place where food was distributed, yet no one to mind the children because the money cannot be raised to pay the neighbors to do this.

Seeing that these families may be at 341 University Street for relief they are told to come at 10 a.m. and a crowd is waiting as early as 7 a.m.

Mothers with tired looking children, fine strapping young men wearing the medals of battles, men, hair snowy white, old women, the kind of old ladies that we call "Mother," brought to beg food from the Army by sheer necessity.

Thus it goes on till about 120 baskets for food are given away each week. The baskets distributed contain potatoes, bread, meat, and oats.

But how badly are funds needed to carry on this work, how pitiful to see the faces of folks who have been turned empty handed away.

vation Army Life Boat Does Excellent Service Along Norwegian Coast

In the latest Norwegian "War" to hand, Colonel Gundersen, Chief Secretary, speaking of The vation Army Life Boat, "Catherine Booth," says:-

"We are now in the busiest season far as the work of the Life Boat is. It is mid-winter, cold, dark and stormy, but the fishing has just begun and from all parts of the north as well as from parts of the west, are gathered Norwegian fishermen - fathers, husbands, and sons who in defiance of weather conditions, seek through fishing to earn a livelihood for themselves and those dependent upon them.

"At such a time the "Catherine Booth" is just in her right place, and the weekly reports of the Captain of the Life Boat, Adjutant Myhre, speak in clear, though brief terms of the work done. They tell of men in danger at sea, frozen and starving, with death in sight, were no help at hand in the form of the Life Boat; and of fishing boats with valuable fishing tackle, storm driven out to sea, their crews enduring terrible sufferings, with certain death waiting for them. did not the "Catherine Booth" - often at the last minute - come to their help.

"For twenty-four years," says the Colonel, "the Army Life Boat has ploughed the seas which surround Norway's most northern, weather-beaten and dangerous coast, working day and night on summer days and moonlight nights, but when the fishermen are suffering, in need, and in danger, it is then that the "Catherine Booth" is at her post."

Heathen Headman Builds Hall for Salvation Army-Another Wing Added to Boys' Home

Commissioner Hoggard, Territorial Commander for South Africa, recently met the Mayor and Town Council of Pietermaritzburg, and discussed plans for the extension of the Army's Social work to that part of the country. Friendly criticism was offered, helpful suggestions made, and a promise of financial assistance obtained. The local paper gave publicity to the matters under consideration.

Ensign Salmons of the Matebele Division, writes cheerfully of the Army's work in that part of South Africa; and mentions that Mtealego, an old heathen Headman, who recently pleaded for The Salvation Army to commence work among his particular tribe, has built a Hall for his people and the folk are busy thatching the place.

The opening of the additional wing at the Boy's Home, Driefontein, Johannesburg, which includes a dining hall, accommodating fifty boys, was a most happy and impressive function. A number of influential people were present including the Chief Magistrate.

Interesting Notes from The Army's World-Wide Battlefield

By Lieut.-Colonel Nicholson

REFERRING to his recent journeyings in Korea, Brigadier Twilley, (Chief Secretary) states:- "I have recently had the pleasure of visiting the Chulla and Yong Dong Regions. At Chuna Ju I conducted the installation Meeting of Staff-Captain and Mrs. Gay, the newly-appointed Regional Officers, and although the weather was bitterly cold there was a gratifying number of people present. The Regional Officers were joyfully received and during the Meetings two young men volunteered for Christ. I arrived at Yong Dong in time for the Open-air Meeting at night, we had an exceptionally cheering time. Later on the Hall, which has been recently acquired, was densely packed and we were much cheered when four came to the penitent form. One of the penitents we picked up drunk in the market while the Open-air was in progress. He left the Hall saved and sober. There were encouraging incidents at various other places visited.

It was a pleasure for me to see the new Army Hall at Wha Hyung Nn. In order to get this erected the villagers cheerfully contributed fifty days free labor.

Lieut.-Colonel Andersen who, during her visit to the far East, spent some time inspecting the Army's work in the Dutch East Indies, referring to her impressions of the work amongst the Lepers writes:- "One of the Army's Colonies for Lepers is situated on the outskirts of Soerabaja, and at the time of our visit Ensign and Mrs. Strandlund were in charge. We found these Comrades quite happy in their work. Their cheery manner has evidently had its effect on the unfortunate pathe Bible incidents of Jesus healing the Leper and many have found the way to His feet in response to the appeals made. They are very happy when singing Army songs, many of them they know from memory and every evening after supper they sit in little groups on the verandah singing the verses through. The Ensign stated that it was wonderful to watch some of the converts as they passed from this world into the presence of their Saviour with a faithful word of testimony on their lips.

The Japanese Government Officials have invited The Salvation Army to represent various phases of its activities at the National Peace Exhibition which is shortly to be held in Tokio. The invitation has been accepted and one of the features will be a set of photographs representative of our work in many lands.

CHINA

Many People Won from Idol Worship in Ting-Chow-Ex-Buddhist Priest Among Converts

Referring to her visit to Ting Chow (China) Lieut.-Colonel Andersen mentions that when once inside the ancient walled town, it is almost possible to imagine one is living in a bygone age, so remote are the customs and appearances of the inhabitants. The only European who under normal conditions is living in the town is The Salvation Army Officer, who with her Chinese Lieutenants has been enabled to do a remarkable work of alleviation for both the temporal and Spiritual requirements of the people. Many have been won from the ancient superstitious beliefs and idol worship, and are now happy in the service of the living God, doing their utmost to bring their old-time associates into the experience of Salvation.

Heard of True Peacegiver

Among the number is an ex-Buddhist priest, who, for many years performed the ceremonials in the Temple, where each day he sat for hours, ever failing to find the lasting peace for which his soul yearned, until he heard of the true Peace-Giver through the simple message of The Salvation Army Officer, and in one of the Meetings claimed Salvation.

Ting Chow is situated in that part of China which was so seriously affected by the recent famine. Many hundreds of the needy ones were helped by the Army's relief work.

The Officer in charge of the work in this town has been responsible for the rescue of many small girls who had been sold for questionable purposes. They are now under the healthy influence of the Army's Home for Children in Peking where there is accommodation for 100 girls.

Flourishing Centre

The town of Pao Ting Fu (China) is a flourishing centre of Salvation Army activities. The Corps, which is under the direction of Adjutant Daddow who hails from Australia, possesses a gratifying company of typical Salvation warriors who are ever ready to witness to the power which has saved them from sin. The Christians of Pao Ting Fu have been noted for their allegiance to their faith, even in times of persecution and suffering. It will be remembered, that it was in this town where so many sealed their faith with their lives during the Boxer Rebellion.

Twenty-three Cadets have entered the Training Garrison in Kingston, Jamaica, for the new session which has recently commenced.

WAR CRY

EDITORIAL NOTES

Candidates' Sunday.

There are urgent calls in this issue of the "War Cry" for careful consideration of the question of Candidature for Officership, and if all those to whom the appeal properly applies respond as they should there need be no doubt as to the result.

In every Corps throughout the Territory special emphasis is at this time being laid upon the importance of Officership, and on Sunday March 26th concentrated efforts will be made in this direction, both in public and private.

There is, of course, no thought in anyone's mind of unduly pressing any Comrade in regard to the question of Officership, but one requires only a very slight acquaintance with Salvationists to discover how many amongst them have a more or less clear realization that they ought to be doing more for God and souls than is at present the case.

In some instances the cure for this state of things is a more zealous application to the opportunities for effort which are close at hand. In others there can be no doubt that back of the conviction in the Soldier's mind that much more might be done, is a twin-born conviction that the question of Officership will have to be settled if the problem is to be rightly solved.

It is a source of joy to witness the eagerness with which hosts of our Young People of both sexes are striving to fit themselves for positions of usefulness as Officers of The Salvation Army, and in due time, we doubt not, there will come forward as many Candidates as may be required. But it still remains an incontrovertible fact that many young men and young women who have no need to wait at all are still holding back, hesitating about taking the decisive step and as a consequence losing very much of the joy which belongs to whole hearted and ready service for God.

Up and down the world to-day are Officers of all ranks and many nationalities whose joy in their work is practically without limit, and not a few of these have voiced their regrets that for one reason or another they delayed becoming Officers after it had become clear to them that God was calling them to take that step: and we are divulging no secrets when we say that amongst the Officers who have passed through the experience referred to, not a few acknowledge that because of their hesitancy in obeying the Call of God they lost ground in spiritual things, and as a result often times had to endure much, the memory of which casts abiding shadows over an otherwise beautifully illuminated pathway.

We are happy to believe that our young men and young women of today have already recognized that the Call of God brooks no delay, and the beautiful spirit of preparedness to follow which is being manifested in so many quarters speaks volumes for the future of the work in which these Comrades, after training, will engage.

EFFECTIVE OPEN-AIRS

Men and Women Seek Salvation on Toronto Streets at Meetings Conducted by the Cadets

The Cadets' Saturday afternoon and night open-air Meetings in the down-town district of Toronto, are being increasingly blessed and owned of God. Especially was this the case last Saturday afternoon and night. At one of the Meetings conducted by women-Cadets in the afternoon, a young girl, a backslider, came weeping and knelt in the ring, seeking God. Others requested our prayers on their behalf.

A large crowd gathered around the women Cadets at night, at the corner of Elizabeth and Queen, and the spirit of conviction was strongly felt. Several raised their hands, desiring an interest in our prayers. A young man, who had been present in the afternoon open-air, had been convicted by the sight of the girl seeking Salvation in the street, and he was present again at night. While the prayer Meeting continued, he came and knelt in the ring and cried to God with great earnestness, for forgiveness. Three others followed, while the great crowd surged around, taken hold of by the unusual sight of four men seeking God upon the street corner. The Meeting closed with great rejoicing over the victory won.

The Cadets are strong in faith for a continuance of definite soul-saving work in the open-air.

PERSONAL PARS

Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Noble, who has been ill, is happily much improved.

Friends of Staff-Captain and Mrs. Lewis will be sorry to know that the former has a severe attack of lung inflammation. Let these Comrades be remembered at prayer time.

Adjutant Chris. Sparks of the Property Department, Territorial Headquarters, is confined to his home through sickness. Grace, daughter of the Adjutant and Mrs. Sparks, is also under the doctor's care. Remember them in prayer.

nation as to what is required by God. Whether Officership is the way He would have you take, and let it be His voice—not your own likes or dislikes—which gives the answer. If saying "Yes" to His Call involves the taking up of a Cross it should occasion you no surprise. The service of Jesus Christ must always involve the bearing of His Cross, but the knowledge of what He has borne for us, and of the fact that many for whom He died have not yet been brought to a knowledge of His saving Grace, should lead to an unhesitating and whole-hearted submission to the doing of His Will.

Nor should it be done reluctantly. The man or the woman who becomes an Officer from a sense of duty has only half visualized what God desires to make clear. Service is undoubtedly a duty, but it is equally a privilege, a joy, and there can be no denying that among the happiest people in all the world to-day are to be found very many Officers of The Salvation Army.

The appeal for Candidates is, as it were, a finger pointing to a door-way through which, if any man or woman pass, he or she shall enter into joy unspeakable and full of glory.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY

Accompanied by Mrs. McMillan and the Staff Sextette, Conducted

Week-end Campaign at Niagara Falls—Nineteen Seekers

In a true spirit of Comradeship the Niagara Falls Band assembled at the station on Saturday afternoon to meet the Staff Sextette from Territorial Headquarters, who, with Colonel and Mrs. McMillan, were to conduct the week-end Meetings.

Musical Festival

The Musical Festival at night by the Sextette, brought together an excellent crowd of citizens. The Morrison Street Methodist Church was kindly loaned, and the chair was taken by Colonel McMillan, who was introduced by Lieut.-Colonel Hargrave. The work of the Sextette was done in that thorough and splendid manner, for which the combination is well known, and which was evidently appreciated by the audience.

Sunday, from knee-drill to the

Presided over by C. F. Swagie, Esq. M. P. P., supported by Alderman Wilkinson, (both warm friends of the Army) the afternoon gathering comprised an interesting address by the Chief Secretary and a short Musical programme by the Sextette. The Colonel showed that the Army hand was out to help the fallen, the needy, the downcast, the heart-broken and the unconverted of all climes and of all walks of life. A deep impression was made on all, and in the words of the Chairman and Alderman Wilkinson, (who conveyed thanks of the audience to the Colonel and Sextette respectively) greater interest would be taken in their appreciation of the work of the Army would be stronger as a result of the Colonel's address. Colonel Hargrave, on behalf of the Territorial Corps thanked both gentlemen

COUPON FOR CANDIDATES

Realizing that I am called to forsake the pursuit of all worldly ambition, and that to devote my life to the service of God and the Salvation of souls will be to find truest satisfaction here and hereafter:

And further believing that a career of Officership in The Salvation Army offers me the widest sphere of usefulness, I offer myself as a Candidate for acceptance and training.

Doxology at night, was a day when the Spirit of God was made manifest for in all NINETEEN seekers knelt at the mercy seat. At knee-drill, which was conducted by Commandant McElhiney, one young man claimed the blessing of a clean heart. Separate open-air were held by the local Corps and the visitors. The internationalism of our Army was shown, by the unexpected arrival of the Corps and Band from Niagara Falls, N. Y. Joining the march, all journeyed together to the Citadel.

Made Deep Impression

The inside Meeting opened with an inspiring Holiness song, led by Colonel Hargrave, after which Mrs. McMillan earnestly pleaded with God for a special outpouring of the Holy Spirit. The songs of the Sextette, the testimonies of Major Easton and Commandant McElhiney, and the address by the Chief Secretary, made a deep impression. Four seekers knelt at the mercy seat.

For the afternoon and evening services the Queen's Theatre was the scene of activities. Excellent crowds gathered to both services.

LIEUT.-COLONEL RAWLING

Suffering very considerably, with all too brief spells of relief, Lieut.-Colonel Rawling still lingers in much the same condition as when our last notice was written.

Let there be plenty of prayer, and let faith be exercised that in the remaining passage to the River, whether it be long or short, our faithful their presence and kind words.

The night Meeting was full of spirit, with Colonel Hargrave in command of the opening exercises. Ensign Beer prayed and earnest addresses were given by Mrs. McMillan and Captain Tom Robertson. The Sextette rendered several vocal items full of power and appeal. The eagerness with which the congregation hung on every word of the Chief Secretary was most marked. During the prayer Meeting fourteen seekers came forward. It was a beautiful sight to see the returned backslider of the morning Meeting, leading others to Christ; also the young woman who blank despair depicted on her face when weeping her way to the front rise from her knees, with a beaming countenance, portraying a saved and satisfied soul; and the young Band-lad pleading with, and then leading his young chum to God.

Colonel Hargrave, Commandant and Mrs. Wiseman and the local Comrades left no stone unturned to make the visitors at home, and to make the Campaign the success it was.

old Comrade may be graciously sustained, and that in due time, he may be released from the pains of the moment and enter into the joy of his Lord.

For Mrs. Rawling and other members of the family, we need scarcely bespeak our Comrades' continued prayers, and yet it goes without saying that they need—and will need—much of the sustaining grace that God alone can give.

THE GENERAL

RECEIVED BY THE QUEEN OF HOLLAND

Gracious and Cordial Interview at The Hague

The General, at eleven o'clock on Friday morning was received at the Royal Palace at The Hague by Queen Wilhelmina—a very gratifying conclusion of his highly successful visit to the political capital of the Netherlands. He was accompanied to the royal residence by Lieut.-Commissioner Howard and Lieut.-Colonel Vlas. Seen by a British "War Cry" representative immediately after his return, the General, who manifestly appreciated deeply the interest and sympathy shown by Her Majesty, stated:

"The Queen received me most graciously, and before many minutes had passed I was talking with her about the work of The Army, not only in Holland, but in other parts of the world, with the greatest freedom. "I found in Her Majesty not only a sympathetic listener, but one who evidently knows something at first hand of what The Army is doing amongst her people. Her questions showed, I think, no little appreciation of our work as well as a genuine desire to see it continued and extended.

"The Queen referred to the fact that the Founder's taking the stand he did for the poor and the lost had sent forth a new idea into the world—an idea which now so many had adopted. I told her how glad we were to believe that the indirect work of The Army is probably as important for the future as is its direct influence.

"Naturally Her Majesty was especially interested in our operations in the Dutch Colonies. She was delighted to learn both of the progress we are making—of which she knows something—and of the extension of that work which we are contemplating. I described to Her Majesty our efforts on behalf of the blind, of the suffering people generally, and also of the lepers.

"The Queen was much struck with what I told her of the unity of our work—the effort to bless these people for this world combined with love for their souls. Unless I am mistaken—and I do not think I am—Her Majesty has a high appreciation of the work of The Army because we are striving to bring the people to a Saviour's love to the people."

"I came away feeling that there was a true woman's heart and a real sense of responsibility not merely for her own subjects, but for the progress of all that is good and true in the life of the day."

It is of interest to recall that the Queen also received Mrs. Booth in audience during the latter's last visit to Holland. We are sure that Salvationists, not only of Britain but of every land, will pray for God's richest blessing upon Her Majesty, as likewise for the success of The Army's work in her domains.

Many Officers and Comrades in this country will be pleased to hear that Commandant Mrs. Walter, who went to India some years ago, has now received the rank of Staff-Captain. She is stationed at the Bombay Headquarters and her Indian name is Salami Bai.

By the death of Mr. John T. Hawke, Editor of the Moncton "Transcript" The Salvation Army has lost a very warm friend. Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Hawke and the family circle.

COMMISSIONER SOWTON

Contacts With our Campers at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario
—Talk to the Home League and the Army at Riverdale (Toronto)

THE Commissioner conducted a Campaign at Sault Ste Marie during the week-end. He met the Soldiers on the Saturday night, and the valuable advice and counsel given was greatly appreciated. The Holiness Meeting on Sunday morning, will not soon be forgotten. God came very near and truly the people had a vision and TEN came out to the mercy seat.

Mayor Presides

The afternoon Meeting in the Orpheum Theatre was presided over by Mayor Dawson, who spoke highly of the work of The Salvation Army. Sergeant-Major Borland spoke on behalf of the local Salvationists, and Rev. Smith for the local Churches. Mr. A. Lawrence moved a vote of thanks to the Commissioner which was seconded by Alderman Graham. The night Meeting was also held in the Theatre, and seeing there was a number of Scandinavian people present, a request was made, that the Commissioner should speak to them in their own language. These friends gave expression to their appreciation of the Commissioner's consideration in addressing them in their language. SIX seekers came to the mercy seat.

AT NORTH BAY

North Bay was visited on Tuesday. All the Officers of the Division with the exception of two, were in for a day's Council, and out of the Commissioner's rich experience, he gave to these Comrades such valuable advice and counsel, that the Divisional Commander, Brigadier McAmmond, is believing to receive news of revivals breaking out in different parts of Northern Ontario. The Councils were followed by a public welcome in the Methodist Church, presided over by Mayor Ferguson. All the Protestant Ministers of the town were present and three of them spoke briefly of their greetings and assurance of co-operation in the great work The Salvation Army was accomplishing. It was an enthusiastic Meeting.

The Commissioner was accompanied by Lieut.-Colonel Adby and Brigadier McAmmond.

AT RIVERDALE

A very fine congregation assembled at Riverdale on Thursday evening for the Commissioner's meeting, which was largely devoted to the Missionary Work of The Salvation Army.

By reason of his intimate acquaintance with so many phases of Salvation Army Work, coupled with years of actual experience on the Missionary Field, and personal acquaintance with many Missionary Officers, the Commissioner was able, while keeping close to the subject, to combine really effective information and intensely interesting particulars in splendid fashion.

Followed with Interest

The interest with which the large congregation followed the address; the readiness with which they recognized the facts the Commissioner sought to impress upon them; the evident deep conviction which took possession of them, the door of opportunity which stands wide open to The Salvation Army; and the testimony of the great things which have already been accomplished, were apparent all through.

From the remarks made after the Meeting, it was evident that many of the Comrades who are looking forward with enthusiasm to the forthcoming Self-Denial Campaign, felt that they had received a splendid impetus which would help them in their work.

Tendered Warm Welcome

The Commissioner was accompanied by Brigadier Moore, the Divisional Commander, who opened the proceedings and tendered the Commissioner a warm welcome to Riverdale; by Colonel Otway, who led the congregation in the opening prayer; and by Lieut.-Colonel Adby, who with his concertina and his song, enlivened the proceedings at intervals. Ensign Sowton read the Bible lesson. Mrs. Sowton was unfortunately prevented by indisposition from being present as she had hoped. Colonel Jacobs, brought the very helpful Meeting to a close in prayer.

TORONTO CENTRAL HOLINESS MEETING

Lieut.-Colonel Bettridge, last Friday, evening made an earnest appeal for real religion in the heart that would manifest itself in the characters and lives of the Salvationists and Christian friends that were present, so that Jesus Christ might be held up before the people as the only antidote for the evils of the present age.

We were again favored by the services of the Temple Band and Songster Brigade, and they looked after the musical part of the meeting in a very satisfactory manner.

Cadets Ward and Mills gave definite testimonies dealing with past and present experiences of God's grace.

Commissioner Bates, the Auditor General, accompanied by Colonel Hipsey, will shortly visit Canada West, and will pass through Toronto on their way to Winnipeg.

MRS. COMMISSIONER SOWTON

Meets the Headquarters Married Women Officers and also the Home League Treasurers and Secretaries

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Commissioner Sowton met the Headquarters married Women Officers at the Training College, where a profitable evening was spent. The attendance was very good, although illness and other unavoidable circumstances prevented several comrades from being present. Kindly mention of each of these by name was associated with expressions of warmest sympathy.

After the opening prayer by Mrs. Brigadier Attwell, Mrs. Colonel McMillan, in a kindly worded welcome to Mrs. Sowton, assured her of the appreciation of her presence there on that occasion being shared by one and all. Mrs. Commandant McRae spoke, and Mrs. Ensign Laurie sang a solo.

Mrs. Sowton, in the course of a telling address, showed herself thoroughly one with all her Women Officer comrades, and in referring to her hopes for a continuance of good work in the future, she spoke of the Home League, and hinted at renewed efforts to form a closer link between the various Leagues and the married Women Officers at Headquarters. Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Perry closed the meeting with prayer, and the general feeling expressed itself in the hope that such a profitable gathering might be repeated as soon as possible.

In the Lecture Room at the Training College, a very delightful gathering recently took place, (writes Secretary Mrs. Bishop, of Parliament Street), the Home League Secretaries and Treasurers being invited by Mrs. Commissioner Sowton, to a very nice tea. The tables were prettily decorated and flowers and good things provided reminded one of spring. Sickness and distance prevented many who were invited from coming.

Mrs. Brigadier Moore offered prayer and Mrs. Colonel McMillan gave out a song. The speakers included Mrs. Colonel Jacobs, Mrs. Brigadier Moore, Mrs. Brigadier Walton, Mrs. Commandant Cameron, Mrs. Staff-Captain Knight, Mrs. Secretary Bradshaw (North Toronto), Mrs. Secretary Milner, (Lisgar Street), and others.

We all felt that dear Mrs. Sowton had indeed the work of the Home League very much at heart and that she is keen on encouraging and forwarding its interests. She gave us many beautiful illustrations of the Home League work in other countries, including England, where the first meetings were held. She concluded with a message from God's Word, exhorting us all to see that the aims and objectives in all that we undertook were for God's Glory and the helping of others. In the closing prayer, as we all stood with hands raised and reconsecrated our lives to God and the War, we felt it was a time of great refreshing to our souls.

Adjutant and Mrs. Weeks, of the Immigration Department, Toronto, have visited Glasgow, Dundee, and Aberdeen for the purpose of giving advice to intending emigrants to this country. They are now back in Toronto.

Captain and Mrs. Morrison (Fenelon Falls) welcomed a baby girl on Feb. 7th.

COLONEL OTWAY

Conducts Meeting with Toronto Men's Social Staff and Employees.

The monthly Meeting for the Toronto Men's Social Officers and employees was conducted by Colonel Otway, assisted by Major Bloss and other Officers at the Augusta Ave. Men's Home on Sunday last.

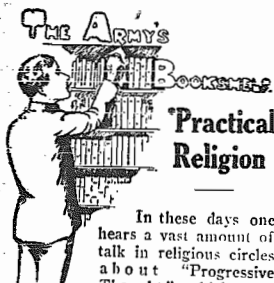

These Meetings are proving of great blessing to our Comrades. Souls have been saved and sanctified. God came very near in this Meeting as the beautiful Holiness songs and choruses were sung. The address of the Colonel was very helpful. At the close ONE man walked out to the mercy seat in great distress of mind and soul, being tempted through inability to get work, to commit suicide. As the Comrades prayed for him and sang "I will trust Thee" peace came into his storm-tossed soul and he rose from his knees a pardoned sinner.

SALVATION SOLDIER'S ARMOURY

Unemployment Problem Sovled Orders and Regulations

"Son, go work to-day in my vineyard."—Matt. 21 : 28
BY ADJUTANT BEECROFT, Montreal Metropole

For Soldiers of The Salvation Army

Practical Religion

In these days one hears a vast amount of talk in religious circles about "Progressive Thought," which generally means something rather indefinite and cloudy. But the man or woman who is out to win others to the service of Jesus Christ, to turn the indifferent and careless crowds to a better way of life and to a high and holy purpose, cannot do better than study quietly some of the wonderful addresses delivered by our sainted Army Mother between thirty and forty years ago.

Here is a volume of the addresses on "Practical Religion." A glance at the different subjects treated therein reveals their present-day appropriateness. "The Training of Children" has not yet ceased to be a problem for parents, even though many leave the burden of the task to teachers outside the home. Mrs. Booth begins with a challenge—"Is this child mine or does it belong to God?" She believed in some old-fashioned methods, the lack of which is being deplored on every hand to-day. She believed in training children in obedience, truth, integrity, and the religion of Jesus Christ.

Two searching, up-to-date chapters, which read like fiery epistles written for the men and women of 1922, are those on "Heart Backsliding" and "Dealing with Anxious Souls."

In this latter address there is no compromise with sin. Mrs. Booth was no smooth-tongued prophetess. She taught unwaveringly that the way of Repentance to Pardon had to be by the forsaking of evil.

There must be a true and thorough Repentance and an intelligent and implicit trust in a living Saviour.

In "Compel Them to Come in" Mrs. Booth tells us, in simple, direct language, how she began her "Compelling" work. The story is a familiar one to many.

The consequences of Mrs. Booth's obedience to the call are seen the world over to-day, while everybody, surely, is aware of the wide-spread, almost illimitable—openings which have followed her teaching on "Female Ministry, or Woman's right to Preach the Gospel."

"PAPERS ON PRACTICAL RELIGION" by Mrs. Booth. Price 75c. Postage free extra. Obtainable from Trade Secretary, James and Albert Sts., Toronto, Ontario.

PRAY AND WAIT

I know not by what method rare
But this I know—God answers prayer.
I know not when He sends the word
That tells us fervent prayer is heard.
I know it cometh soon or late:
Therefore we need to pray and wait.
I know not if the blessings sought
Will come in just the guise I thought.
I leave my prayers with Him alone
Whose will is wiser than my own.

THIS is the most distinctive call to active service that has ever come to my notice, in fact, it is more than a call it is a command. It is none other than the voice of God to every eligible young man or woman in the ranks of The Salvation Army. and to all people who want "something to do."

A Critical Period

One of the greatest problems that confronts the world to-day is what is known as the "Unemployment Problem." The brains of the universe are at the present moment trying to find ways and means for an immediate solution. This winter, according to those in authority, has been the most critical in the world's history, because, unemployment brings unrest, followed by revolutions, anarchy, lawbreaking, etc. Look at the thousands in every city who are looking for work and finding none, anxious to do anything that will guarantee an honest living, but all to no purpose. Jobs are too scarce, they cannot be found, and the cry seems to be, "Oh wait till the spring comes, then there will be something doing."

Of course the unemployment problem is most acute in the secular world, in the money getting business, which is all well and good, but let us have a look at the other side of life. Listen to the call of the Master, "The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few" Luke 10: 2. Here is the command, "Go work to-day in My Vineyard" Matt. 21: 28.

We are told that there are hundreds of vacant pulpits, and hundreds of half-used churches of all denominations, both in Canada and the United States, yes and in every country throughout the world, all for the want of workers, sanctified flesh and blood is what is required. Look at our own needs, look at the open door of The Salvation Army. Money, sympathy, prayers etc., are all needful to our success, but our greatest need is workers. Young men and women can be placed in every department of The Salvation Army, both at home and abroad, and the offer is the best proposition in the world. Working in God's vineyard is the most congenial occupation ever known to man. Did not our Founder say in his last breath, "The promises of God are sure if you only believe." It is past understanding how this offer can be turned down. The old song says,

"Precious souls are dying, nerve me for the fight,
Help me spread the glorious news,
Liberty and light."

You have neither reason or excuse for side tracking this issue of vital importance. It is a call and a loud call at that for workers, and on acceptance, the unemployment problem is for ever solved as far as you are concerned. You will have a job for life, three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, with all the overtime you desire to put in.

You will find an outlet for your talents be they few or many. "God has a plan for every man" and the central qualification and the most vital is, your sanctification, and your consecration for service or sacrifice. Place yourself on the altar for that purpose, then you are at His disposal, and whatever part God wants you to play for the upbuilding of His Kingdom. He will equip you for the task.

Some time ago a grocer put out a sign "Boy wanted." There were a few applicants for the position, but they did not seem to come up to expectations, until one smart boy came along. He picked up the sign, walked into the store, got hold of a broom and began sweeping up the place. He got the job, of course, he hired himself. They wanted a boy and he was the boy. Don't wait to qualify, don't wait for a more definite call, don't wait till you can preach, in fact don't wait for anything. You may never be a great leader, but thank God you can be a soul winner. God calls you into the inner circle to-day and He commands you to "Go work in My vineyard." To disobey is dangerous, you cannot turn a deaf ear to such a distinct command.

The Call is to You

"Son, go work to-day in My vineyard." This call is to you. You cannot dodge the question any longer: you are miserable now because you have tried to console yourself that you were not qualified, but now the command comes to you again.

Are you anxious to do your part in getting the world saved?

Then write to the Candidates' Secretary. If you are not converted get down on your knees and ask God for Christ's sake to have mercy on your soul, seek His pardon, plead the merits of His precious blood and you too will have lots of work to do.

THE CALL TO SERVICE

He saith unto them, "Follow Me, and I will make you Fishers of Men."

From lonely farm and busy town—from prairie field and gloomy mine—

From workman's bench and penman's desk—from fishing boat on tossing brine—

From everywhere the Lord loud calls "Come now, and with me catch men's souls!"

Oh, quick, go after Him, lest when the end of life, time's bell sad tolls,

You bitterly mourn that you have wasted years.

(Ask your Corps Officer for a Candidate's Application Form.)

No. 53—Articles of War

Having received with all my heart, the Salvation offered to me by the tender mercy of Jehovah; I do here and now publicly acknowledge God to be my Father and King, Jesus Christ to be my Saviour, and the Holy Spirit to be my Guide, Comforter, and Strength; and that I will, by His help, love, serve, worship, and obey this glorious God through all time and through all eternity.

Believing solemnly that The Salvation Army has been raised up by God, and is sustained and directed by Him, I do hereby declare my full determination, by God's help, to be a true Soldier of the Army till I die.

I am thoroughly convinced of the truth of the Army's teaching.

I believe that repentance towards God, faith in our Lord Jesus Christ, and conversion by the Holy Spirit are necessary to Salvation, and that all men may be saved.

I believe that we are saved by grace, through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ, and that believeth hath the witness of it in himself. I have got it. Thank God!

I believe that the Scriptures were given by inspiration of God, and that they teach that not only does continuance in the favor of God depend upon continued faith in, and obedience to, Christ, but that it is possible for those who have been truly converted to fall away and be eternally lost.

I believe that it is the privilege of all God's people to be "wholly sanctified," and that "their whole spirit and soul and body may be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." That is to say, I believe that after conversion there remain in the heart of the believer inclinations to evil, or roots of bitterness, which, unless overpowered by Divine grace, produce actual sin; but these evil tendencies can be entirely taken away by the Spirit of God, and the whole heart thus cleansed from anything contrary to the will of God, or entirely sanctified, will then produce the fruits of the Spirit only. And I believe that persons thus entirely sanctified may, by the power of God be kept unblamable and unrepensible before Him.

WHAT'S DOING ROUND THE WORLD

FRESH AIR

Is One of the Best Preventatives of Disease

We are more likely to believe fresh air is good for somebody else than ourselves. While it is highly desirable to be unselfishly interested in the welfare of others, "charity should begin at home" in the case of fresh air (writes Florence Meredith, M. D.)

Fresh air means cool, moving air. We need not have air that is chemically pure. It need not necessarily contain any limited percentage of oxygen or carbon dioxide. It need not even be free from all odors.

If every individual knew exactly how much he himself would profit by fresh air, and went in after it as he does after the other blessings of life, we should have within a year an appreciable increase in the well-being of our nation, and a marked drop in the number of cases of tuberculosis.

Colds are not caught in the middle of the ocean, no matter how cold one may feel. Arctic explorers do not catch cold. Norwegian fishermen, when they were living in stoveless sheds and working in open boats rarely had tuberculosis. But some alert business men sold them stoves for their huts and naphtha launches, with comfortable, warm cabins, and almost at once the increase in tuberculosis was marked.

Now we know that the germs of both cold and tuberculosis are with us most of the time, and that any weakening of our defenses cause these germs to get in their work and give us disease. The weakening in the defense comes most often through depriving ourselves of fresh, cool, moving air. The proper kind of air—that is, air that is of the right temperature, and that has sufficient motion can best be secured in the great outdoors.

SCHOOL VENTILATION

"Perfectly ventilated school-rooms" are not ventilated enough, we are told by Dr. William E. Watt, in the "Nation's Health" (Chicago). Children who will physically and are mentally atrophied in the ordinary school air become healthy and quick-witted out-doors, and when air in sufficient quantity is admitted to the schoolroom the same result follows, we are assured. One may have plenty of fresh, outside air and keep warm at the same time, but any excess of heat is an enemy to comfort and to health. Coal is saved by not overworking the heating-plant.

SORTING MAIL BY MUSIC

Experiments with a phonograph in the post-office at Minneapolis have shown, according to the "Tribune" of that city, that the charms of music will not only "soothe the savage breast," but also cause the ordinary mail-sorter to forget his worries to such an extent that he will do more work and make fewer errors than usual. He likes it, too, according to R. D. Smith, who installed the phonograph and selected the music for the trials. There are fifty night clerks in the Minneapolis post-office, and Mr. Smith required sixty-five records to bring them to the proper condition of efficiency.

Canada's Arctic Meat Stores

Immense Grazing Areas of North Country Able to Support Vast Herds of Reindeer

IT is a common saying that Canada has only fringed her natural resources. The wealth of her forests, streams, mountains and plains will never be fully told. The part of her people is to turn those resources into national wealth that will minister to the growing needs of themselves and of neighboring peoples. Vilhjalmer Stefansson, Canada's pioneer Arctic explorer, who has travelled and shot and fished and surveyed in the frigid North for over a decade, and who has come to know its commercial possibilities as none other knows them, is now waging a vigorous campaign with his voice and pen to convince his country that the Arctic is fruitful, and that if properly utilized it can be made to furnish the other parts of Canada with a large portion of their meat supplies.

He argues that in Northern Canada there is a grazing area of nearly two million square miles, half the area of the United States.

Extensive Grass Lands

"These grass lands," says Mr. Stefansson in an article in the "World's Work," are not the only northern portion of the continent, but also the islands that lie north of Canada, even to the north coast of the most northern of them. The vegetation is only in part of a typically polar nature, strange to southerners. In part it consists of common plants, such as various sedges, bluegrass, timothy, goldenrod, dandelion bluebell, poppy, primrose, anemone, and the like. More than 115 species of flowering plants are known to exist in Ellesmere Island. I think there can be no doubt that for every ton of mosses and lichens on the lands beyond the Arctic Circle there are at least ten tons of flowering plants. These are more conspicuous, not only because they are more numerous, but also because they are less shrinking in their habits of growth. A further difference is in the fact that such plants as grasses and sedges grow afresh every year, while certain species of lichens cropped by herbivorous animals require many years to replace themselves (some species from five to ten years.)

"The United States Government is just now making the first detailed studies of the grazing possibilities of that part of Alaska which is Arctic—the northern third. These have confirmed the views that I had published some years earlier to the effect that the grazing in the North, as represented by grasses and other flowering plants, is far in excess of that represented by mosses and lichens."

Mr. Stefansson then points out that the cattle ranchers of the Western States testify that there is little profit in ranching when the cattle have to be stabled for a part of the year. The reindeer of the Arctic country do not require to be stabled.

"The first objection commonly made to reindeer is that they are wild animals. Apparently many people have the idea that about the only tame reindeer there are the half dozen that Santa Claus drives around about Christmas time. Even these do not look very tame in most of the pictures. The fact is, however, that reindeer were domestic before history began. They are as domestic as sheep. The records of China show that in the fifth century of our era there were numerous domestic reindeer in Northern China, and King Alfred the Great tells us that when he was King of Britain there were domestic reindeer in Norway that took there the place of the cattle of England.

"Next comes the quality of the meat. This question can be answered in many ways, though none is more conclusive than the evidence as to price.

"Stockholm, Sweden, is one of the fine cities of Europe, with a population of between three and four hundred thousand people. I wrote a letter to the Chamber of Commerce of Stockholm and have received a long reply which may be summarized as follows: Reindeer meat has been on the market in Stockholm for several decades. Apparently it was looked down upon in the beginning as an inferior meat because produced by a people looked upon as inferior—the Lapps. Gradually, however, the meat increased in favor, until something like ten years ago it came about to the level of the various common domestic meats. It is now sold in the city by the hundreds of tons each year and last winter the average price of reindeer meat ranged from equality up to 25 per cent. higher than that of beef for corresponding cut.

"The grazing experts of the United States Government estimate that you can support permanently in certain parts of Alaska one reindeer for every thirty acres of land. This estimate will probably hold in general for about two million square miles of Canada and Alaska and for between four and six million square miles of Northern Eurasia. As an absolute quantity this means a large supply of meat, but relatively to the demands of the world as the world is to-day it is not large.

Fish and Meat

"I do not profess to see very far into the future, but, so far as I can see, the North will not produce any food on a commercial scale, except fish from its waters and meat from the grasses and other plants that grow native and without human encouragement. Because it can produce no other food, fish and meat will be the great food products of the North, and of these, meat will for sometime be greater. I do not undervalue the resources of the ocean; I suppose that the time will come when men will begin to farm the seas somewhat as they now cultivate the lands, but that consideration I am leaving out for the present.

"But long before that time will come, northern Alaska will fulfill the prophecy of E. W. Nelson, the Chief (Continued on next Column)

A useful and interesting toy typewriter for teaching young children the letters of the alphabet has been invented by a Londoner.

The machine, which is practically indestructible, has a circular keyboard on which are the letters of the alphabet. When any of these keys is pressed the letter is printed and beside it a small picture of some object whose name begins with that letter.

With A, for instance, is printed an apple, with B, a ball, and so on. In this way the children soon learn the order of the letters and the initials of words. Their interest is aroused and their memory assisted. The children's typewriter can be so arranged as to take interchangeable signs, and thus progressive lessons in reading and spelling might be given.

The inventor has also originated a simple calculating machine for teaching arithmetic to children, and he claims that this mechanical aid will save an immense amount of time, and at the same time enable the children to understand better the principles of addition and subtraction and multiplication.

HOW TO LIVE LONG

The author of "How to live a century and grow old gracefully," Dr. James Pebbles, has just passed away in Los Angeles. Though he failed by forty days to live out a hundred years, he was able to give some point to his quaint maxims. When he reached his 99th birthday he declared he intended to live, not only to be 100 years old, but many years more. His sight was good, his hearing, appetite and digestion excellent. He attributed his long life mainly to abstinence from eating animal flesh, which practice he ceased at 39.

Other rules which, he said, contributed to his long life were:

"To bed every night at 8.30. Out of bed every morning at 6: Never use tobacco. Never use intoxicating liquor. Never complain.

"Avoid worry and keep a harmonious mind. Worry is among the worst things in the world. Have a strong will power. Always look for the new. Keep calm."

of the United States Biological Survey, who has said in testimony before a Congressional Committee that within twenty years the annual reindeer output of Alaska will be 1,250,000 carcasses per year (equal, therefore, to about 3,000,000 sheep, for a reindeer weighs more than two sheep). And if Alaska with its estimated two hundred thousand square miles will give us an annual turnover of ten or thirteen million carcasses, the equivalent of twenty-five million carcasses of sheep, while it is many times more than the total production of Canada to-day in all forms of domestic meats, Canada cannot do this within twenty years, for the industry there is just being started. It is, however, being started with the advantage of the Alaskan success before our eyes, and progress will, therefore, be a great deal more rapid."

each part must be so represented that when singing together there is a good blend of an equal volume from each of the separate parts.

The attack and release of chords must also be well attended to. In fact, Brigades should be trained to be as clear in their delivery as the best of Bands.

Tunefulness is, of course, an absolute essential. The untunefulness noticed in young Brigades and often, too, in the older Brigades, can very often be traced to the indefinite way in which the notes are produced. Always aim at hitting the note true and avoid the lazy habit of sliding from one note to the other. Whatever the interval between one note and the next, always finish the one before attempting to produce the other. Let clearness be your aim, trying always to imitate the organ in this respect, and this will do much to minimise the unpleasant fault of singing out of tune.

In order to make the Brigade really effective and a pleasure to listen to, we must give the words first place, and learn to pronounce and articulate them clearly.

Be very careful to pronounce the vowels correctly. This will not only assist in the correct pronunciation of the words, but will greatly add to the tone of the singing.

Great attention must be paid to all punctuation marks. Often the message of the song is absolutely lost because quite a meaningless because we ignore these important little marks. Do not be afraid to sing a short statement in one phrase if the punctuation mark demands it; likewise the long sentences.

It is necessary also that expression receives due attention. The pointed signs may possibly suit the first verse; but when it comes to the following verses, study the words and give them the expression they call for. If only singers could be relied upon to do this, no need would arise for composers to write these signs in vocal music.

I believe I am correct in saying that expression marks are fairly modern in their use, and were not used at all in the days of the old masters. Of course, any departures from the indicated signs must always and only come from the conductor, otherwise chaos will result.

There is one feature in some of our songs which might, if more attentively handled, be made more effective, and that is where the word or sentence is repeated several times. If the sentence be one of proclamation, see that each repetition is made more determinedly each time; if it be a passionate note, increase the passion as you repeat; if it be announcing a great truth, see that you make the truth of the statement plainer and more assuredly each time it is repeated. Above all sing as unto the Lord.

Festival says "One could not listen to the singing and playing, prompted with such zeal, without feeling that The Salvation Army would fight its way round the world with music and song."

The Band and Songsters are rendering valuable service in the Corps and their efforts are appreciated by the citizens. A glance at the picture on this page gives an idea of the Songster Brigade's strength.

GUELPH BAND

The Band has recently closed one of its most successful years under Bandmaster Baldwin. Last year we suffered considerably through sickness; two euphonium players, Dandemen Whetstone and Leigh, who are still suffering the effects of being overseas, had to cease playing.

Bandsmen F. Anderson 2nd Baritone, and Bandsman E. Pemberton 2nd Trombone have been welcomed into the Band. The Bandmaster has been elected as an Alderman in the city council. Geo. Gibbons

PERSONAL SKETCHES

No. XXI—Adjutant Ursaki

When Adjutant Ursaki came into The Salvation Army as an Officer he distinctly knew God had called him. He had evidence of this by direct answers to prayer. What seemed to him to be impossibilities were soon overcome when "he spread it before the Lord." And so we see him to-day in charge of one of Canada East's premier Corps—Montreal I.

The Adjutant was converted and spent his Soldier days at Regina I. But a youth, full of ambition to make his way in the world, he was confronted with a realization of his sin. He saw one of his companions in an open-air ring and was attracted by his testimony. Out of curiosity he went to the Hall, where God's Spirit strove with him. He surrendered to the Divine promptings and knelt at the mercy-seat, where he found Salvation. That was in the year 1905.

He had much persecution to face as a result of this step. Both parents turned against him and he was turned away from his home. This was a severe trial to him. He loved his mother, but he loved Jesus Christ his Saviour better, and so his choice was quickly made. For some time his parents did all they possibly could to persuade him to be reconciled to them by giving up the Army. His strong faith in God helped him to be true to his choice.

While thus away from home he applied for Officership but was rejected. Why he could never tell. He had quite made up his mind to "settle down," when one day, to his great surprise, he received a letter informing that he was accepted for Officership. He could enter the Session of Training about to open. This brought with it new difficulties, but he took the letter he had received from Headquarters to his bedroom and on his knees he committed himself to the will of God. He relates that at this time he was short of money and this was his greatest hindrance. God wonderfully helped him by sending persons to him to help him. They came without any hint from him. Rather indeed did he turn away from any possibilities, thus proving God's choice of him and confirming his call. So after bidding farewell to his comrades, but with a heavy heart because he could not see his parents, he left for Toronto Training College in 1907.

After the usual Training experiences, Lieut. Ursaki was appointed to Lascar Street Corps, Toronto, with special duties in respect to an outpost nearby. Then followed Paris and Niagara Falls. Promoted to the rank of Captain he went in charge of Rideoutown. Then came Chesley, followed by a second term at Paris.

He was married in September, 1911, to Captain Lulu Large, at Winnipeg. Captain Large was then a nurse on the Staff of Grace Hospital where she had special duty. Mrs. Ursaki has always been a great help to her husband. Together they were stationed at Bracebridge, Dundas, Galt, Guelph, Hamilton III, St. John I. N. B. and last but by no means least—Montreal I. All these appointments have been marked by God's blessing. At Dundas they were able to renovate the Hall and make many improvements in the Band, thus making the Corps more useful to a greater number of people.

THE GREAT CALL CAMPAIGN

AS foreshadowed in our last issue, we are now able to make some reference to the enrolment of Soldiers throughout the Canada East Territory.

To rightly appreciate the figures, not, in due course sign the Articles of War and become Senior Soldiers. During the time named the total number of indoor meetings amounted to 67,224, of which 1853 were cottage meetings. The number of seekers at and to estimate them at their full value, one needs to bear in mind what enrolment means. A study of the Articles of War, without signing which none may be enrolled as a Salvation Army Soldier, demonstrates how clearly has been defined the dividing line over which everyone is expected to pass before enlisting under the Blood and Fire Flag.

The Articles of War are the outcome of long and wide experience, and while there can be no doubt that if the pathway to Soldiership were made easier the numerical strength of The Army might be increased, there is a great union of conviction amongst Salvationists of all grades that the foundation upon which Soldiership is built up is one of those God-given advantages with which The Salvation Army has been so richly blessed.

Having in mind the separation from the world and the consecration to the service of God and man which Soldiership involves, one may proceed to look at the figures, and in doing so find real ground for rejoicing that God has blessed the Great Call Campaign in such a signal manner.

In the period January 1 to December 31, 1921, no fewer than 2,310 Senior Soldiers were enrolled in Canada East, in addition to which 1,030 Young People became Junior Soldiers, many of whom will, we doubt the mercy-seat, either for Salvation or Holiness, totalled 18,403. Glory to God!

The number of Candidates for Officership during the year was 315.

Interest naturally attaches to the centres in which these advances have been made, and while the proportion is larger in some parts than in others, the figures show that a gracious influence has been at work all over the Territory.

Toronto, though divided now into two Divisions, East and West, was for the first half of the year, as will be remembered, one Division only, and consequently for the purpose of these returns may be taken as a whole. The seekers registered were 2,405. The Senior Soldiers enrolled were 440 while the Young People who became Junior Soldiers totalled 388, and the Candidates who offered for Officership numbered 93.

For the London Division the seekers were 1,432. Senior Soldiers enrolled 221, Juniors 118, Candidates 21. Stratford Division, (11 months) Seekers 325, Senior Soldiers 38, Juniors 54, Candidates 1.

Hamilton Division, Seekers 2102, Soldiers enrolled, 220, Juniors 117, Candidates 15.

North Bay Division, Seekers 714. Seniors enrolled 76, Juniors 38, Candidates 9.

Montreal Division, Seekers 1378, Seniors enrolled 148, Juniors, 98.

SALVATION ARMY IS DOING HEROIC WORK

Ensign Pryde Tells of 20,000 Beds Provided for Hostel—Many Prisoners Helped to New Life

(From the Quebec "Telegraph")

More than 20,000 beds were provided at The Salvation Army Hostel for very small payments during the past twelve months, according to the report given to the "Telegraph" this morning by Ensign Pryde. Nearly 1,200 free beds were given to men in distress during this period. At the same time the Army gave more than 10,000 meals at small charges, and 1,800 meals free. Work was found for practically 500 men at the labor bureau. More than 150 meals were given to prisoners and more than 90 visits were made to the courts and the authorities in the interests of men in prison. All this, said Ensign Pryde, mercifully tells the bare tale of statistics. Within these detailed statistics were hundreds of human tales of disaster, sorrow, suffering and yet encouragement toward better things.

Adjutant and Mrs. Johnston

Brigadier McAmmond was recently with us. A good crowd gathered in the hall and before the Meeting closed ONE man, seventy-nine years of age, gave God his heart for the first time in his life.

On a recent Thursday we had with us Ensign Jones and Lieut. Green of Huntsville. They conducted a Young People's Meeting in the afternoon when TWO little boys gave their hearts to God. Much of God's presence was felt in the Meeting at night and after a very impressive talk by the Ensign, TWO men who live ninety miles from here sought and found Christ.

Candidates 29.
Ottawa Division (6 months). Seekers 260, Seniors enrolled 6, Juniors 2.
St. John Division, Seekers 1251, Seniors enrolled 94, Juniors 18, Candidates 23.
Bermuda Division, Seekers 208, Seniors enrolled 27, Juniors 21.
Halifax Division, Seekers 1106, Seniors enrolled 81, Juniors 97, Candidates 13.

Sydney Division, Seekers 875, Seniors enrolled 101, Juniors 79, Candidates 11.

Newfoundland Sub-Territory, Seekers 6338, Soldiers enrolled 858, Candidates 100.

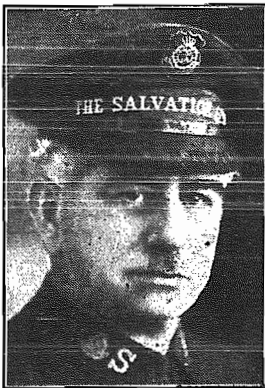

Gratifying as the results shown undoubtedly are, we are confident that the work accomplished will show even better fruit as time goes on, especially as we are satisfied that the spirit which actuated the forces within the Territory during the Great Call Campaign will continue to show itself in the maintenance of the efforts put forward.

God grant that it may be so!

As a happy sequel to his early struggles the Adjutant is glad to relate that owing to his faithful consistency his parents wanted him to return home. His father was converted, several of his relatives became Salvationists, and, best of all, he was restored to his mother's affection. Truly nothing is impossible with God.

LIEUT.-COLONEL AND MRS. BETTRIDGE

As Principal of the Training College, Lieut.-Colonel Bettbridge is interested, not only in the Cadets now in course of training, but also in the Candidates who are being selected for the next Session. Ought you to be one?

SALVARE SAVED

ARE you saved?" It was a Salvation Army Soldier who asked the question.

"That is me!" It was the young man who was asked the question who answered.

"Praise the Lord!"

"That is me!" the man continued. "I am Teodor Salvare."

"Oh, I see," the Soldier returned. "Salvare is your name, but what I want to know is if you are saved?"

And as a result of this introduction he found that Salvare was saved. Then, nothing would do but he must join the Army. And he joined.

"I just had to do so," he said. "You see, if I am to keep saved I must help save others."

And he helped. What a brave helper he was! He spent himself for the Master, and spent lavishly. What a singer he was! And on the East Side, when meetings were held on the street, he would sing in his own language for the sake of those of his own people who were there. And he would bring them into the meetings, laboring zealously. "Ted," as he was called, was one of the best Soldiers in the Corps. He was also diligent as a laborer.

One day he came to the Captain with eighty-five dollars.

"See?" he said. "That pays my second cabin passage to Naples. But listen! I will go steerage. I give you a tenth for the Army. Then there are six dollars left. I want you to buy me Italian Testaments when you can, so I take them home with me."

"Ah, you are going back to Italy?" the Captain asked.

"Sure! I have my folks to save, or I would be worse than an infidel."

"But you have money laid by to use over home?"

"No—oh, no! That's all right. I go to keep saved."

He went, with his Testaments, in the steerage. On the way across he was taken sick, and by the time the liner reached Naples he was so ill that he had to be carried ashore to a hospital, where he lay for two or three weeks before he was able to set out for his native Apulia.

In some way, he never knew how, while he was in the hospital his Army uniform disappeared, and he had to leave in a plain gray suit. His other belongings, including the Testaments, were intact. It had been several years since he emigrated, and his own near relatives had emigrated with him. But there were others, his townspeople, for whom he was solicitous, and his arrival was of general interest among them. He could not speak the dialect now, and he had the appearance of a well-to-do citizen, and not that of "la gente," the common people. He was disappointed that he was not in his Army suit.

He had no money, and went right to work in the vineyards as a common laborer, interesting the other men as he told of "Ah-me-ree-cah" and of his new hope in Jesus. The people showed him hearty respect and listened gladly. There was one thing, however, that seemed to them ridiculous (queer) and extraordinary (extraordinary), and that was that he would not drink the light wine for which Apulia is famous, and which the people drink as freely as we drink tea or coffee. They called this capriccio (freakish), and told each other that it was an abutime strane (strange habit) that he had formed in the United States.

Then he told about his connection with the Salvation Army, and the interest in him was thereby intensified. Although he spoke of it but lightly, there were those who were interested in what he told of the loss of his uniform. Among others was the padrone of the vigneta (vineyard), and he spoke of it to the American Consul at the Adriatic port. That official, eager to show his American zeal took up the matter with the hospital authorities, making complaint that Salvare had lost the uniform of a Soldier in the "American Army!" The officials resented this charge and the Salvation Army suit was produced.

Salvare received it with joy, and with all the true ardor of a private in the Salvation Army donned it every evening and Sundays, and went into his old way of Christian extravagance for his Lord. By day he worked as a common laborer to earn money to return to America, but first he must save all who would come to Christ. Twenty-one of his converts came into the Waldensian Church. NIAGARA FALLS

Commandant and Mrs. Wiseman

The Band was in charge of the Meetings on a recent Sunday. The morning open-air was led by Band Secretary Parsons. The Holiness Meeting was led by Bandsman A. Mills, the address being given by Deputy Bandmaster Clarke. The night open-air was led by Bandsman J. Clarke. The inside Meeting was one that will long be remembered. Several of the Bandsmen took part and the Band rendered the selection "The Saviour at the Door," after which the Commandant commissioned the Band-men for the year. Following this the Niagara Falls Quintette Parry sang and Band-Sergeant Hallam gave an address. We rejoiced at the close over ONE backslider returning to the fold.

ON A STORMY NIGHT

An Evidence That the Army's Open-air Work Is an Inspiration and Help to Others

One very stormy Sunday the Earlscourt Corps conducted its usual open-air Meeting at the scheduled spot. Next day Captain Green, the Corps Officer, received the following letter—

"Dear Sir,

Last night, while yourself and companions conducted a service on Earlscourt Avenue, the writer was deeply impressed with the fervor and zeal, which, not even the raging and swirling snow of an unusually violent storm could dampen.

"I have felt prompted to write these few lines as a recognition of the blessing and inspiration received, and assurance that, in one case at least, the effort was not in vain. While, of course, fully aware that you have constant assurance of this in God's promise that His Word will not return unto Him void, but will accomplish that to which He has sent it, yet at the same time, ever recurring testimonies to the abiding truth of this promise cannot help but be encouraging.

"What greater proof could be presented to the world of the intense reality of the Love of Christ in men's hearts, when this Love can prompt His followers to such devotion and zeal for the eternal welfare of others, that, not even the combined fury of the elements can be effectual as an obstacle to their testimony.

"While a Christian for many years, the inspiration received from the Open-air service of last evening, was not only a rebuke, but a challenge to a more complete consecration to the Saviour, to whom I have never regretted yielding the allegiance of my heart early in life, and Who has never failed to guide and bless all through these years.

"Praying that your-self and the whole Earlscourt Corps may be blessed with ever increasing evidences of His favor."

GARMENTS FOR SALE

It may not be generally known that many useful garments for women and children are made by the inmates of the Toronto Women's Industrial Home. These can be purchased at a moderate price. Ladies own materials made up. Mail orders will receive prompt attention. For further particulars apply to Adjutant Mary Roe, 95 Bellovue Ave., Toronto. Phone Coll. 647.

SONGS OF SALVATION

WHITER THAN SNOW

Tunes—"Lord Jesus, I long" 182, S.B. 21.
Lord Jesus, I long to be pure whole.

I want Thee forever to reign in soul;

Break down every idol, cast out every foe,

Now wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow!

Chorus

Whiter than snow, yes, whiter than snow,

Now wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow!

Lord Jesus, let nothing unholiness Apply Thine own Blood and renew every stain,

To get this blest washing I call thee forego.

Now wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow!

MY STRENGTH, MY HOPE

Tunes—"A charge to keep," 65; sorrow there," 73, S.B. 73.

Jesus, my Strength, my Hope,

On Thee I cast my care;

With humble confidence look up, And know Thon hearest prayer.

Give me on Thee to wait Till I can all things do;

On Thee, almighty to create, Almighty to renew.

I want a sober mind, A self-renouncing will,

That tramples down and casts behind the haunts of pleasing ill.

A soul inured to pain, To hardship, grief and loss,

Bold to take up, firm to sustain, The consecrated cross.

THE CRUCIFIED

Tunes—"There is a happy land," 18; Jordan's flood," 94, S.B. 92.

Have you seen the Crucified?

Oh, wondrous love!

Do you know for all He died?

Oh, wondrous love!

Have you seen His thorn-crowned brow?

Have you felt the crimson flow?

Do you His salvation know?

Oh, wondrous love!

Do you know your sins forgiven?

Oh, wondrous love!

Have you had a taste of Heaven?

Oh, wondrous love!

Has His love cast out your fears?

Has He wiped away your tears?

At His word Hell disappears,

Oh, wondrous love!

THE "WAR CRY"

SPECIAL EASTER NUMBER

A twenty-four page Edition of the "War Cry", rich in illustration and full of interesting printed matter, is now being printed by the thousand, and this will continue until the unusually large number of copies required for this Special Issue is completed.

From those who have seen something of the contents we have heard nothing but commendation, such expressions as "Sure to sell wherever it is shown," and "Better than any we have seen for many a long day," being indicative of other even more flattering descriptions which good taste forbids our repeating. In any case it may fairly be claimed that the Easter "War Cry", consisting of twenty-four pages and costing only ten cents will undoubtedly give satisfaction to all who receive it. Printed in two colors—eight pages upon coated paper—this issue is much more liberally illustrated than has been the case hitherto. Fourteen whole pages are devoted to pictures and practically every other page is illustrated also. The Number as a whole, may, we believe, be said to constitute a not unworthy successor to the long line of Special Numbers which have preceded it. The large two-page drawing depicting the scene at "Golgotha" just before the Saviour was nailed to the Cross, is described by one who should be reckoned a fairly competent judge, as better than any previously published with any "War Cry" on this continent.

Other scenes associated with the Saviour's life and death, pictures of Army activities, the people amongst whom we labor, and portraits of some of the leading Officers of The Salvation Army—including the Army Founder, the General and Mrs. Booth, Commissioner Higgins, Chief of the Staff, and the Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton—go to make up a collection of such interest—not to say value—as warrants us in believing that even the large Edition which is being printed will be insufficient to supply all would-be-customers when the attractiveness of the Number becomes manifest.

As stated, the presses in our Printing Department are rolling off copies as fast as may be, and orders from various Divisional Centres are already to hand, the dominant feature in practically every case being an increase on former requirements.

Not least in interest to the great host of "War Cry" Heralds who, throughout the Territory help on the Salvation War by seeing to the circulation of the "War Cry", will be the page which contains the photos of six Heralds who sold the largest number of the last Special Edition, namely that of Christmas, 1921; while a large group photograph of the Cadets now in the Training College—all of them zealous "War Cry" sellers—will possess much interest for many in the various Corps where these Cadets are well known.

The date of the arrival of the special Easter "War Cry" parcels at the various Corps, cannot be specifically stated at this moment, but it is near at hand, and readers generally are invited to keep in close touch with their Corps Officers, and let them know of their requirements lest it be found that the supply obtained for distribution prove insufficient.
